FalcoTel-E Cycle Shelter

The FalcoTel range is another popular modular cycle shelter capable of meeting most applications. There are a wide number of configurations of the FalcoTel family from a simple open canopy or double sided unit to a secure lockable store or wall mounted canopy.

The pitched roof means all rain water is directed towards the rear of the store and away from the door areas.

This is the basic building block of the range with uprights and the roof section – a very affordable and simple design.

By adding back and side walls, the FalcoTel-E can be supplied as an enclosed shelter with optional cladding in hardwood, corrugated metal sheets or steel mesh to meet various design schemes. Like most Falco products, the cycle shelter is modular enabling it to be extended as required.
